I will be a major contributor to your organization

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF TOURISM AND HOSPITALITY MANAGEMENT

Recently I was fortunate to be an intern at the Radisson Hotel of Valley Forge in Pennsylvania. My responsibility was to supervise eight housekeepers and two housemen. After only 5 days on the job the general manager was convinced that I will be able to handle the work on my own. And I did not let him down. I worked side by side with the Housekeeping Director to make sure that all the scheduled work was done on time and ultimately, all the hotel guests were happy. During one of the staff meetings my manager announced that a guest left a very favorable comment about my performance. This recognition was very important to me not only because it was forwarded to the executive management team but because it showed me that all my hard work was paying off.

Long term career goal

My ultimate goal is to become a General Manager of a major hotel. I understand that this will require hard work and experience in all areas of hospitality operations. I plan to gain this experience through internships, trainings, positions in various departments and keeping an open mind to possible relocations in order to take advantage of promotion opportunities. I bring to the table a well-developed awareness and understanding of different cultures and the ability to build rapport with the general public.
