

Sport Industry

Special Interest Articles:

- Specializes in Sport Recreation and Management
- Philadelphia Department of Recreation Junior Intern

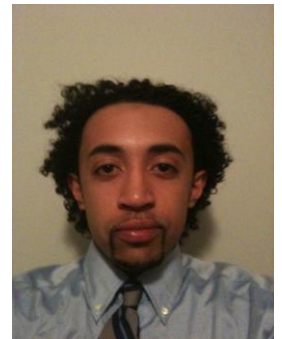

Individual Highlights:

- Former Basketball Manager
- Special Olympics Volunteer in Northeast Philadelphia
- YMCA Volunteer - Main Campus Program Board Committee Member
- USGA Member

Temple's Hungry New Sport Industry Face

Temple University's own Michael Huie will further his journey into the working world after recently earning a bachelor's degree in Sport Recreation and Management at the School of Tourism & Hospitality Management. He will now be entering with professional experiences in working with the Philadelphia Recreation Department and Carousel House, Sears and Reebok department stores. He also has experience in organizing basketball tournaments throughout Long Island for kids. With a opportunity, this ambitious Temple graduate will strive for only excellence when working for your company.

"Hard work always beats talent if talent don't work hard" – Quote I Follow

Industry Experience

While attending Temple during my junior year, I was given a opportunity to do an internship with the Philadelphia Recreation Department. It gave me a great opportunity to work with different companies such as the Carousel House which is a facility that dedicates to providing socialization, recreational and educational services to persons with disabilities who reside throughout the Philadelphia area. During my tenure at the Carousel House I organized and Coordinated wheelchair basketball tournaments.

My duties consisted of programming the digital scoreboard and shot clock. This was a great learning experience because it gave me a chance to see basketball being played at a different level. Along with basketball games I coordinated other events at the Carousel House such as Movie Nights which entailed selling tickets and food. I also coordinated Casino Day. This program required me to showcase my time management and multi-tasking skills. I was required to manage a large group of disabled adults while assisting young kids who occasionally visited the facility to lend out a helping hand. This internship helped improve my organizational skills as well as grew my communication skills within the workplace . Working with the Carousel House was a great learning experience in which I hope to use the skills that I gained in future working environments.

.

